The Robogals Asia-Pacific Conference is a great opportunity to meet like-minded engineering students from other cities, get together to plan Robogals for the year ahead and establish interpersonal relationships that serve to create a strong Robogals community in the region. Open to all 2010 and 2011 executive committee members from the chapters listed above, the conference is also a “Bootcamp” (training) for all new exec members, including our new chapter at the University of Otago in Dunedin, NZ!

There is no charge to attend the conference. Accommodation, all breakfasts, dinner on Friday night and all activities are provided! Attendees will, however, need to sort out their own lunch on Saturday and Sunday, dinner on Saturday, and transport.
